

Tomasz Styczeń

Fullstack Developer

Highly motivated IT student passionate about software development, mathematics, and cybersecurity. Currently focused on expanding my front-end and Python skills to become a full-stack developer. I enjoy understanding complex systems under the hood and leveraging code to build practical, real-world solutions. Driven by a long-term goal of launching my own tech venture.

Chosen Projects

StudyNest App (Next.js, React, TypeScript, Tailwind CSS, OpenAI)

An AI-powered study assistant that helps students learn faster and retain more by turning study materials into interactive tools.

- Flashcards generated from PDFs or text with a 3D flip UI
- Balanced quizzes with multiple-choice and open-ended questions
- Summaries with the most important ideas in a clean format

Diary App (React, Express.js, Node.js, PostgreSQL, CSS)

A full-stack journaling application for tracking thoughts, tasks, moods, and personal progress.

- Daily journal entries with gratitude and reflections
- Task tracking and completion management
- Statistics dashboard with progress visualization

Battleship Game (JavaScript, HTML, CSS)

A browser-based implementation of the classic Battleship game featuring player vs computer gameplay and interactive ship combat.

- 10x10 game board with ship placement system
- Player versus computer gameplay
- Turn-based attack mechanics and win detection

Experience

Mateusz Dunikowski IT Solutions

Software Developer Intern

- Collaborated in a 3-person development team on a group web project, gaining hands-on experience with shared repositories and agile workflow.
- Utilized Git and GitHub for version control, code reviews, and effective team collaboration.
